Spark the Fire Within: The Firewalking Experience is an innovative method of overcoming limiting beliefs, phobias and fears. Most of us spend our lives never really confronting the things we fear. We go about circumventing these fears, thinking that we have dealt with and conquered them but without overcoming these fears, we are unconsciously held captive by them.

For traders who want to achieve peak performance, the firewalking experience can be empowering and can equip you with tools to take you beyond the place you have carved out for yourself in the world. Firewalking is also a great tool for team-building purposes. For those who are in investment product sales, a firewalking experience will help you break limiting beliefs of “not being able to achieve” to “the sky is the limit”, and gives you the incentive to break new grounds. Set your goals high and join us as we walk on fire and break through boundaries and discover a brave new world!

More than 500,000 people have participated in firewalking since the movement began in 1982. This life changing workshop could be beneficial to people who are struggling with different types of addictive behavior, break bad habits and re-gain control.
